SYNTHONIE, the epic sci-fi band from Germany with alien instruments and a virtual singer. The duo plays their own tributes of gaming-related music, inspired by well-known sci-fi and gaming songs. Best escribed as epic orchestral music like Hans Zimmer, inspired by Vangelis and rocking like Mike Oldfield.

Chris, the mastermind behind this project, plays on self-built extraterrestrial instruments that are far from anything you have seen so far, both in reality and in the virtual world.

Together with the virtual band member Syndarella, who exists as a virtual singer exclusively in the computer's data rooms, Synthonie shows how humans will work together with artificial individuals in the future.

Because even machines dream of electric sheeps.
