Wicked Artists is a booking agency for creative technology & new media artists, located in Berlin and Montréal. Our roster represents some of the most innovative and forward-thinking artists from around the world who pair human creativity with emerging technology to create extraordinary live performances and interactive installations.

Challenging the present status-quo and fostering creative diversity.

Creative technology & new media artists explore and create new ways of interaction and communication by using technology to express their imagination. We put the spotlight on artists with experimental and outside-the-box approaches whose works reach beyond common limitations but can't be labeled or categorized by standard terms of the art world.

Embracing the weird and wonderful.

The most fascinating and captivating works of art are often created by extremely talented creative technologists with beautiful minds but only experienced by a few. By connecting innovative artists with festivals, promoters, brands, and businesses, we enable our clients to stage extraordinary events and create unforgettable moments through one-of-a-kind performances and interactive installations from outstanding artists.
